

"... Chris Wolf, alias not the brains."

Jameson's Links Timeline News Chat Forum Archives Cord Photos
Email

[\[Lobby\]](#) [\[Main\]](#) [\[Help\]](#) [\[Search\]](#)

Jameson's WebbSteuths
Forum Type: Protected
Moderator: Jameson
Time Zone: EST

Printer Friendly Format

Original Message

"... Chris Wolf, alias not the brains."

Posted by The_Good_Reverend_Bayes on Oct-22-00 at 02:11 PM (EST)

1. Has a masters in Journalism and worked for BUSINESS REPORTS newspaper. 2. Here is what profilers have said about, "Whoever committed this crime." Ressler: "Whoever wrote this note, knows a lot about BUSINESS and WRITES ALOT." (See #1, above!!!) McCrary: (When he was actually profiling, and not pointing evidence), "The killer is self confident, glib with superficial charm, probably no remorse. Consider this: When he saw Hoffstrum in a store he walked up to him and joked, "You're not going to find anything good about yourself in there." They both laughed. This is the same guy who accused Hoffstrum of "Conspiring to protect the Ramseys." Douglas: Killer would not have remorse but would "React" to any investigation. Did this guy react or what? They asked him for a handwriting sample and he threw it back at them. When they tried to take his picture he turned to the wall so they couldn't. Seems to know his way around the law, what he can and can't get away with. They stopped him for a traffic ticket and he wanted to know why they weren't looking for Jon-Benets killer. His "Reactions" to a crime he had nothing to do with are bizarre, to say the least. Ressler: "Killer would probably confess during the interrogation, just to get it off his chest." If this guy hadn't reacted so weirdly after the crime, he would never have been a suspect! He couldn't even hide it from his girlfriend. Later, when he came back to pick up the police report, he wanted to know only ONE thing. How did you get my name? If you think about it, Eller actually relieved his pressure: "We're not interested in you"! Can you believe that? Lies! Lies! lies! Listen to his FIRST alibi for that night: "I don't remember being out Christmas night." What? That's as bad as OJs, "I don't know", when asked how he cut his hand so severely. Like OJ, he later Amended his alibi: " I went out for a drive in the late afternoon, early evening. We had partied the day before, on Christmas eve, and I went to bed on Christmas night by 9:30. I was home all night." Well, if you talk to his girlfriend, she'll tell you differently. This guy has NO alibi for that night, and the police don't seem to care. What's more, he has lied twice, each one different! When Susan Smith did that, the good old boy sheriff, knew he had her. I don't think his girlfriend would have missed him going to bed at 9:30! Midnight, maybe. He refused to have dinner with his girlfriends parents that night and wasn't seen again until 5:30 the next morning, taking a shower with, "Very dirty" clothes lying on the floor. Who would get out of bed at 5:30 in the morning, take a shower, then go back to bed? Why did he lie about the first time he heard of the crime. He said the 27th. Jackie said they saw it on TV on the 26th! Why did he lie about never having heard about Access Graphics? He interviewed one of their employees, a year earlier. (Around the same time as that newspaper article, "People vs Profits"!) Why did he call John a child abuser when he first heard about the crime? The night of the 26th! Could THAT be what the penetration was for? Why did he "Freak Out, biting his nails," when Alex Hunter pointed to the TV screen and said, "We will find you." I hope the "F_____r dies", is a pretty severe reaction for someone who has nothing to do with the crime. Why did he call Alex Hunter, "The lowest F_____G scum bag on earth"? Could it be because he didn't bring an indictment? If he does, he is free and clear. If the Ramseys are in court, whose going to be concentrating on him? It would probably be a long trial and when it's over no one is going to reinvestigate this crime, no matter what the verdict is.

Here is what his girlfriend said about him: 1. "Has a fascination with world politics and political violence." 2. Hates big business. 3. Reads Fortune Hunter magazine! (The stun gun, the garrote, the knot, the hi-tech shoes, the military flashlight, The "Military" language of the ransom note. 3. The crime itself: who the hell would try a kidnapping in this day and age? 4. Probably knows how to pass a polygraph, which would come in handy for his co-horts, should ANY of them have to take a test.

Follows the case closely, which one profiler said the killer would do. Keeps pictures of Jon-Benet! Whoa! Keeps diaries. I get very suspicious of MEN who keep diaries! Before you dismiss his girlfriend as a "Flake," listen to what HE has written in his diaries: A. He called Boulder a, "Rich man's imperialist police force," and, "A Facist police state"! Has accused Hunter, Eller, Gossage and Hoffstrum of consiring to protect the Ramseys. These remarks were, WRITTEN IN HIS DIARIES!!!

I'm sure a lot of people phoned in tips about this case but how many people went with their lawyer, in person? His remarks actually corroborate what HE SAYS! Why did she move to Wyoming and not have a phone? Why was she so upset over this case that she no longer could keep HER OWN BUSINESS going? Listen to what her lawyer says: "In the wake of the Ramsey case, Jackie couldn't concentrate on getting her business on stable footing. I kept trying to get her to look aside the case and let the police deal with it. I encouraged her to forget about it and move on but she was incapable." This is a women who owns her own business! Anyone who has done that knows how important it is. She chucked it all and moved to another state. She has been described as a flake with emotional outbursts. How emotional would YOU be if you thought the guy you were living with was a brutal child murderer, and the police didn't believe you? She left her own business and left town. She gave up everything! He went on a tirade, accusing John's parent company of "Dealing with the enemy." "We respect your business but not the country it represents"?

With his "Connections" he could have accessed John's bonus. Worked for Outward Bound, knows his way around children. The note that was used is said to be a knot used in climbing. Outward Bound does a lot of climbing. Here's something chilling for you: He asked Suzzanne Chase for a date and she told him she would go out with him but only as a friend, She already had a boy friend. That's worse then a rejection; that's a sympathy date! Think he may have "Reacted"?

Two more things: Who is carrying around a FORTEEN month old newspaper article, John Ramsey, people vs Profits"? (HIS newspaper!) The fact that Bill McR was his friend and advisor really intrigues me. How about you? Tell me what you think.

Next" Suspect #2. After we finish with this guy.

[ALERT] [EDIT] [SEND EMAIL]
 [REPLY] [REPLY WITH QUOTE] [TOP]

Table of Contents

- Where did the information come, Maikai, 02:29 PM, Oct-22-00
- problems, LovelyPigeon, 02:32 PM, Oct-22-00
 - Woah!, Liv4books, 02:39 PM, Oct-22-00
 - it was Shapiro, LovelyPigeon, 02:40 PM, Oct-22-00
- found the diaries, LovelyPigeon, 03:02 PM, Oct-22-00

f /161.58.21.56/dcf/jams/2765.html

10/22/2000

"Ode to JD,,, "

Jameson's Links Timeline News Chat Forum Archives Cord Photos
Email

[\[Lobby\]](#) [\[Main\]](#) [\[Help\]](#) [\[Search\]](#)

Jameson's WebbSleuths
 Forum Type: Protected
 Moderator: Jameson
 Time Zone: EST

Printer Friendly Format

Original Message

"Ode to JD,,, "

Posted by The_Good_Reverend_Bayes on Jun-07-01 at 10:37 AM (EST)

"And if the clouds burst thunder in you ears
 You shout but no one seems to hear
 And if the band you're in starts playing
 different tunes
 I'll see you on the dark side of the moon."

I believe you.

The Boulder Police say you're a flake, and a lot of other people agree. Not me.

I believe you.

I've seen a picture of that business you were running. No flake could have run that business. My guess is it was your lifelong dream. So I asked myself why would you give it up so easily and get out of Dodge.

I always thought you were somewhat protected because if he did anything to you, it would just about assure his guilt in this case.

But if I try to put myself in your shoes, that's not safe enough. He could still go off, percentages or not.

The police didn't believe you and said he was not a suspect, even though they had him in custody, they never even asked him where he was that night.

The most important evidence in clearing a suspect is his alibi, at least initially.

This guy has lied about where he was that night; each one different!!! (When Susan Smith did that, that good old boy sheriff knew he had her).

I believe you.

To be cont'd. (Son of Bayes needs the phone).

[\[ALERT\]](#) [\[EDIT\]](#) [\[SEND EMAIL\]](#)
[\[REPLY\]](#) [\[REPLY WITH QUOTE\]](#) [\[TOP\]](#)

Table of Contents

- Continue, Pink,,, The_Good_Reverend_Bayes, 11:49 AM, Jun-07-01

Messages in this discussion

1. "Continue, Pink..."

Posted by The_Good_Reverend_Bayes on Jun-07-01 at 11:49 AM (EST)

"And if the dam breaks open many years too soon
And if there is no room upon the hill
And if the band you're in starts playing
different tunes
I'll see you on the dark side of the moon."

Or in the Montana Badlands. Whatever.
This has been the whackest case I've ever seen.
Every time you turn around something else whack comes up!
Here YOU are, fleeing to the Montana Badlands, a notorious Outlaw retreat. Where are you staying? At the Dalton gangs bed and breakfast?
Momma, don't let your girls grow up to be outlaws!

Well, I believe you. Outlaw or not.
For one, you had to know the danger you would be putting yourself through. He was living with you.
If we know he's a reactor, then certainly you knew it. It all boils down to motive. Why would you put yourself through this?
Steve Thomas and Jeff Shapiro said you were a flake and shouldn't be listened to. They also said there is no way HE committed this crime. Case closed. If two of the finest "detectives" you've ever seen said it, it must be true.
Well, people can believe them all they want; I believe you.
I don't think anyone has a clue as to the ordeal you have been through. What you've been through is something I thought you only saw in movies.
A frightened woman goes to the police to tell them that she thinks that the guy she is living with could be a brutal child murderer and they don't believe her! Then they say that he's not even a suspect. This one's right out of Hollywood for everyone but you. For you it's all too real.

When I think about it, the move to the Badlands was a good move for you.

Your existence right now is more surreal than real, when you think about it. I can identify because the same thing has happened to me.

Let me explain:

For reasons I won't go into because it would take too long, I have ended up at the age of sixty, working as a convenience clerk in a gas station.

When I draw the grave yard shift, one of the things I have to do is mop the floors! Forty years earlier I had run away from the orphanage I was in, two weeks before graduation from high school and ended up on a golf course where I started as a caddy.

So, here I am forty years later:

I'm mopping this floor at the gas station 4:00 o'clock in the morning. While I'm mopping, I'm thinking of just how surreal this case has made my life. I'm swinging the mop to and fro and thinking, "I started out as a caddy. Forty years later, I ended up as a janitor. I think I have solved the murder case of the decade."

What's wrong with THAT picture?