8 A. On JonBenet's hand.

9 Q. Sourced to any item in the house or 10 any individual in the house?

11 A. Sourced to no animal in the house or 12 any item in the house.

13 Q. Any effort made to try to ascertain
14 whether there was any beaver hair or other type 15 of animal hairs in the house since the initial 16 days of investigation by the Boulder Police
17 Department?

18 A. Yes. When we were at the Ramsey
19 residence in the summer of 1997, Detective
20 Ainsworth did actually take tape and taped the 21 floors and all of the closets of the Ramsey 22 home to see if there was any source in the 23 closets of any type of animal hair, and he 24 found none.

25 Also the animal hairs were dark in

Once in one of our many long conversations in the early days of our relationship when things between us were going very well, I discovered how much empathy you had to third world people; women and children specifically. So, I offered to pay for a ticket to send you to Mexico and you went away there for nearly a month in the spring of 1995. I remember you coming back with a fur hat, one that was made from the fur of an animal called a coypu in Spanish. You must have put it away somewhere immediately because I never saw you wear it again until December 1, 1996, at which point you wore it constantly for almost the entire month right through to Christmas even. After Christmas Day though, I never saw that hat again

From Lou Smit's deposition Wolf vs Ramsey January 9, 2002 where he describes the two different types of animal hairs, one type that was found on the duct tape that was found covering JonBenet's mouth and the other type that was found on JonBenet's hands. Boulder Police never had either type positively identified by any expert body. I am certain that either the hairs found on JonBenet's hands or the other type of hairs found on the duct tape came from that fur hat that you brought back from Mexico.
