

I just, as soon as she did, I turned around and got back in my car and left.

Q. When you were speaking with the woman, was your penis still exposed?

A. It was for part of the time while I was still urinating. As soon as I finished urinating, I zipped my pants up.

Q. Did you continue to talk with her before you had zipped your pants up?

A. Yes. And it was a matter of not a conversation. I wouldn't even consider it a conversation. Like I said, I had been drinking, and I was -- I had been drinking, I would say, quite a lot. So I don't recall -- you know, it wasn't what I would call a conversation. It was a matter of like, you know, she said, What are you doing there? Or -- and laughed or something.

I mean, I have no idea if that's what she said, but something just sort of in the way of a greeting of some sort. Or -- and I may have said something. I have no idea what I may have said, but it was, you know, that kind of an exchange, meeting, you know, to and fro, one cycle, and not an extended conversation in any way.

Q. Are you remembering what actually happened or are you remembering today what you would like to think actually happened on that occasion?

A. I am remembering what happened.

Q. Did you read the police report?

A. Yes, I have read the police report.

Q. Have you read what the woman said?

A. I haven't read what she said.

Q. Have you read her statement?

A. No, I haven't. I haven't seen that.

Q. She said that, with your penis exposed, you walked up the steps, came to her door, knocked on the door, asked to come inside. Did that happen?

A. No, sir.

Q. You're positive that did not happen?

A. I'm positive that did not happen.

Q. So if the woman said that and called the police, she was lying?

A. I think her -- I thought her husband or boyfriend or someone like that called the police.

Q. What was the outcome of that arrest?

A. I pled guilty. I didn't want it to be a trial. I was working as a reporter at the time, and I didn't want it to be in the paper. I went to the newspaper stand the next day to see if that story was in the paper. I was very nervous about that being in the paper, and I didn't want to prolong any jury -- any procedure.

And I don't think that that statement that you just imparted was in the police report that I signed at the time of my pleading guilty.

MR. RAWLS: This is a copy of Exhibit 1, Evan, except I believe there is one more copy in what I've given you than is in Exhibit 1.

THE WITNESS: I did not see this at the time that I --

MR. ALTMAN: Let him ask the question. THE WITNESS: -- pled guilty.

Q. (By Mr. Rawls) Do you see that the victim and complaining person is said to be a woman in the police report?

A. Yes, I do. Yes, I do.

Q. Does that refresh your recollection as to who complained?

A. I guess so.

Q. Does the statement by the woman that you have just read refresh your recollection of the actual events that took place on that occasion?

A. No, sir, it doesn't. And like I said, if I had read this at the time of pleading guilty, I would not have pled guilty.

Q. And the statement by the woman as related by the police officer in Defendant's Exhibit 1 it's your testimony is false?

A. I'm sorry? Could you repeat the question?

Q. Have you read what the woman said to the police officer as captured by the police officer on Defendant's Exhibit 1?

A. That's this?

Q. Yes, sir.

A. Yeah, I've read that.

Q. And that it's your testimony today that is false?

A. To my recollection, that is not what happened.

Q. So you pleaded guilty to an offense of public indecency without knowing what you were supposed to have done?

A. I wouldn't say that. I guess I pled guilty to an offense of public indecency because I was -- because I had my penis exposed when a woman came out and looked at it and apparently was -- called the police.

Q. A woman whom you approached.

A. Well, from a story away and for a matter of a few steps until she went back in the house, and then I left. I certainly didn't try to grab her or reach her in time to grab her or anything like that.

Q. And that's as much as you'll admit today about something that happened in 1992 when you were very drunk and to which you pleaded guilty?

A. Well, I certainly -- yes. I want to be very clear in stating that I in no way threatened her or would ever threaten anyone with even the idea of touching them if they didn't want me to.

Q. Mr. Wolf, now let's look at what the police officer says you said to him. Do you see that in Defendant's Exhibit 1?

A. Uh-huh (affirmative).

Q. You said you were heading for a smut shop; correct?

A. I don't think I would ever use that term. I think I probably would have said a bookstore, maybe an adult bookstore, which is what I was doing, and that's what I told them.

Q. Was there not a restroom in that bookstore?

A. I assume that there may have been.

Q. How far away from where you stopped was that bookstore?

A. To me, at that time, it was an unknown distance away. And I really had to go to the bathroom.

Q. What was the bookstore?

A. Adult Palace is what it says here.

Q. I'm sorry?

A. Does it say "Adult Palace"? Did I read that?

Q. I don't know what you've read. I am asking you if you recall what the bookstore was.

A. I just knew where it was, meaning on South Santa Fe.

Q. You also told the officer you were having lots of problems; did you not, sir?

A. I told them that hoping that they would let me go.

Q. You admit you told them that?

A. (Witness nodded head affirmatively.)

Q. And, in fact, was it true that you were having lots of problems?

A. I don't think I was probably having lots of problems. I think I was probably exaggerating the ones that I was having.

Q. Why?

A. My nature.

Q. It's your nature to exaggerate?

A. To exaggerate my own plight.

Q. To exaggerate your difficulties?

A. Maybe, to myself or to -- yeah.

Q. So, in fact, you lied to the officer. You didn't have a lot of problems. You just wanted to get out of trouble, and you wanted him to take pity on you?

A. I wanted him to take pity on me, yes, yes.

Q. And you lied to him?

A. Well, I don't know. I think -- I guess having them surrounding me and asking me questions about a public indecency charge that they were threatening me with, I figured, I guess, saying I was having problems wasn't probably a lie at that point.

Q. The problem you were having that you told the officer about was that you were being arrested?

A. I think it's both of those things. And I'm not going to be able to be any more specific than that.

Q. After that episode, did you ever go back to the house or apartment of that woman complaining party?

A. No, sir. Absolutely not.

Q. Did you ever call her?

A. No, sir. Absolutely not. I wouldn't have any way of being able to if I had wanted to.

Q. Did you ever correspond with her?

A. No, sir, absolutely not.

Q. Did you ever try to?

A. No, sir.

Q. Before today, had you ever read what that woman said to the police?

A. No. My attorney, Darnay Hoffman, sent me some of this, but I don't think I ever saw this before.

The July 1992 police report of the incident where a woman and a man in Denver both reported that they had seen you masturbate in a public parking lot and that the woman also said you came to her door with your penis exposed

3

At 10:20 pm, Officer Siskar was summoned to a business on SantaFe. A man there told the officer that he noticed a car stop in front of his business, a man got out and went to the north side of the building. The man said he went out to see what was going on and he saw Chris Wolf "...in the back parking lot with his pants down, his penis in his hand, masturbating." Then a female approached Officer Siskar and told him that she had also seen "Mr. Wolf standing and masturbating..." She also said that Mr. Wolf "...walked up the stairs to her door with his jeans up but opened with his penis exposed and asked to use her restroom. She said no and he left." Officer Siskar had the car info sent out over the radio and Officer Sample did locate the car, at 10:30, and Chris Wolf. The car was parked in the parking lot of the High Spot Bar and next to the Adult Palace. Wolf was walking around outside, he was approached by officer Sample who told him that they were looking into a report of public indecency. Wolf told the cop - "I was just taking a leak." At 10:35 he was read his Miranda rights, said he understood them, was willing to talk but might change his mind later. Wolf told the officer he had been on his way to "the Smut Shop" - that things hadn't been going well for him, he had a lot of problems. Wolf said he had been on his way to the "Smut Shop" (Adult Palace) when he decided to go into the alley to urinate. He said he had been urinating when he a female "...walked out and..." ... and according to the police report, Wolf then said he wasn't going to say anything more. He was brought to the Sheriden PD and processed. He had $10.27 on his person.

By August 1994, two months after we first met, I felt comfortable enough to let you move into the Jasper House. By this time, I had moved in to the Dakota Ranch and was living there because I was in the startup phase for my business. You lived at the Jasper House alone but we continued our friendship with occasional romantic

We exchanged numbers. You called me within a week. We started dating

For that photo you need a date as well – like fall or summer 1994? And maybe put a caption with it like “Chris and me in our happy days when I loved him and he loved me”

One thing you didn't tell me about yourself that night though Chris, was that in 1992 you had been arrested in Boulder for public indecency

From your 2001 deposition where you are being questioned by the Ramsey lawyer Jim Rawls about some of your public sexual exploits

P 103

Q. You told us earlier that you have masturbated in front of people; did you not, sir?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. And Mr Wolf, you've also done that outdoors in plain sight; have you not?

A. Oh, I don't think in plain sight. I have done it outdoors

Q. You've been arrested for doing that outdoors; have you not, sir?

A. I don't think I was arrested for masturbating. I wasn't masturbating at the time I was arrested.

Q. That was in 1992; am I correct?

A. As I recall

Q. Tell us what you were doing and what you think you were arrested for on that occasion.

A. I was -- I stopped at a -- on a side of a commercial kind of road and pulled in the back of a commercial, what appeared to me to be sort of a strip mall of some kind at, I think, nearly midnight or after midnight. And there were no cars in the front of that building and there were no cars anywhere near and the building was all dark, and it was obviously a commercial building. And I pulled in behind because I had to go to the bathroom, and I had been drinking. I had been drinking, and I had to go to the bathroom. And I had to urinate.

And I pulled in behind that shopping center strip mall, or whatever it was, and parked my car in a place where I saw no other cars parked and no lights on in any windows in the back of the building and no sign that there was anybody anywhere nearby. And I proceeded to urinate. And someone, a woman, turned on -- a light went on on the second floor near where I was urinating, and a woman stepped out on a porch kind of a situation or deal, and was watching me. And I finished urinating, and she was sort of smiling at me, I thought, or in some way acting kind of encouraging, I guess.

And I finished urinating, and I started to walk toward her. I guess I said something, was being friendly, I'm sure. And I thought that she had said something sort of friendly. Laughed or something, laughed in a friendly way. And then, as I started approaching her, as I started approaching the stairs that led to where she was standing, she sort of went back in. And as she did,
